

An Illustrious Army

Student Name

University

Course

Professor Name

Date

An Illustrious Army

Steve Jobs once said that time is limited, so humanity should not be trapped in dogmatic thinking. I am thrilled to welcome all of you to the graduation party for the Jefferson Hill High School Students class of 2021. The sacrifices you passed through for the past four years deserve a celebration. None of this could have been possible without the active support from your parents and guardians. They always encouraged you to concentrate on your studies to achieve the highest accolade possible in education. Indeed, today ignites the start of your successful life in the competitive world of intellectual skills.

However, I embolden you, fellow brothers and sisters, to use the opportunity to expand your thoughts beyond the vicinity. It is high time you bring change to the world through invention and innovation instead of waiting for other generations to bring change to the universe. You are the generation who can take contemporary technology to new and dizzying dimensions. Through your critical thinking, you will get solutions to the consistent environmental challenges that have triggered havoc globally over an extended period. Someone among you may be able to find the cure for cancers or other debilitating afflictions which have consumed millions of lives.

The new chapter of your life's story has been ignited on this joyful day. Many of you will join accredited higher learning institutions to develop your career to a higher notch. Nevertheless, it is my humble request to urge you that wherever you go, you should establish a positive acquaintanceship with your colleagues. People are social beings who need to interact mutually or lean on each other to achieve common goals. It has been my honor to present my perspective before an army of optimistic future ladies and gentlemen. Thank you.